Abstract

The abstract should be between five and eight lines in length. It should provide a very concise summary of the research goal, data, method, and results. The page size is A4 with margins of about 2 cm. Pages should not be numbered, nor should there be headers or footers. The text should be set in a standard roman 12 pt serif font with justified lines, allowing hyphenation to achieve even spacing.

1 Section Heading

Bibliographic references should use the author and year format (Mittelbach et al., 2004, section 12.3). Bibliographic items in the References should contain full names, in the style of Computational Linguistics and CSLI Publications. Style file cslipubs-natbib.bst can be downloaded from CSLI Publications.

Examples should be in italics and numbered with Arabic numbers in parentheses, as illustrated in example (1). Examples in languages other than English should contain glosses, preferably adhering to the Leipzig glossing rules when dealing with morphologically rich languages.

(1) Her går bjørk-a over 1200 meter, det er høyest i land-et.

“Here birches grow over 1200 meters, that is highest in the country.”

Figures should have a numbered caption below, while tables should have a numbered caption above. Tables have thin borders on all sides and may have borders between cells as visually appropriate.
